This portion must be completed if the building will contain electrical wiring.

1. Will there be a concrete slab either within or adjacent to the building? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No
2. Will there be farm animals (poultry excluded) within the building at any time? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No On the slab? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No (If the answers to questions 1 and 2 are “yes,” see “A” below. An electrical permit is required before placing concrete.)
3. Will the building be used for storage of feed, hay, or straw? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No
4. Will the building be used for major repair of motor vehicle equipment? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No The National Electrical Code defines major repair as “engine overhauls, painting, body and fender work, and repairs that require draining of the motor vehicle fuel tank.”
Electrical concerns if an answer to any of the above questions is yes:
A. If there is a concrete slab either in the building or immediately adjacent, in an area where farm animals will occupy or stand at any time, the animals may be either distressed or killed by current that would not affect humans. The slab is required to have an electrical grounding system. (547.10)
B. If the building is used for storing feed, hay, or straw, the electrical wiring must be installed in a dustproof manner. [547.5 (C), 547.1 (A)]
C. If the building is used for major repairs of motor vehicle equipment, the electrical wiring may have to meet special wiring requirements. (547.3) (Article 500-501)

These electrical requirements are not difficult or expensive when incorporated during original building construction. However, they can be expensive to retrofit.

If the answer to both items 1 and 2 on Page 3 are “yes,” contact the local electrical inspector or your electrical contractor to determine the requirements for the grounding system in the slab prior to placing the concrete.

Provide your electrical contractor with a copy of this page or contact the local electrical inspector for specific requirements before beginning electrical work.
