Oregon Law prohibits the issuance of a concealed handgun license to anyone with a felony conviction, a misdemeanor conviction within the last four years or anyone on pretrial release. Oregon law allows for the denial of a concealed handgun license if the Sheriff determines you are a danger based upon a past pattern of unlawful violence or threats of unlawful violence. Oregon Law prohibits the issuance of a concealed handgun license to anyone who is subject to specific court restraining or stalking orders, or to anyone who is required to register as a sex offender in any state. Oregon Law also prohibits issuance of a concealed handgun license to anyone that has been dishonorably discharged from the Armed Forces of the United States. Federal Law under 18 USC 922 prohibits anyone who has been convicted in any court of a misdemeanor crime of domestic violence from possessing a firearm or ammunition. Laws regarding Oregon Concealed Handgun licensing can be found under Oregon Revised Statutes 166.291 – 166.295.
